MATTHEW MURRAY

Of Counsel

Matt Murray focuses his practice on municipal law and real estate, bringing his strong background in public-sector representation and creative problem-solving skills to effectively serve clients across the region.

Matt Murray's wide-ranging municipal experience allows him to skillfully advise cities and local governments on a variety of issues. He has extensive knowledge of complex real estate transactions, including acquisitions and contract negotiations. Matt is also well-versed in municipal procurement, code enforcement, the Open Meetings Act, the Public Information Act, and environmental matters.

Matt's 9-year tenure with the City of Fort Worth provides valuable insight on the operations of city government. He regularly presents to City Councils, City Departments, and City representatives on the common challenges facing cities and other local governments.
