

Korie Koetting focuses her practice on business and corporate law, including business transactions, contract drafting, business development, and general corporate litigation.

Korie represents both plaintiffs and defendants across a variety of complex commercial matters. She provides guidance to employers of all sizes, reviewing handbooks, policies, and contracts, and advises clients on proper employment practices to ensure compliance under both federal and state law.

With a background in civil litigation, Korie has also developed a strong foundation in transactional work. She has experience drafting a wide range of business transactional documents, including consulting agreements, real estate contracts, construction service agreements, employment policies, and purchase-sale agreements.

Korie's knowledge of both litigation and transactional matters allows her to anticipate compliance concerns and to offer clients practical, forward-thinking advice.

AFFILIATIONS

Amarillo Area Bar Association, Member
Amarillo Area Young Lawyers Association, Member
Amarillo Area Women's Bar Association, Member
Children Learning Centers, Board Member
Roman Catholic Diocese of Amarillo, Red Mass Committee
Oklahoma Bar Association, Member

RECOGNITIONS

"Tulsa Law Review, Editor-in-Chief, 2021-2022
CALI Award for Excellence – Selling and Leasing Good
Order of the Barristers Award
Public Interest Award for Dedication to Service, University of Tulsa College of Law, 2022

CONTACT

Amarillo Office
Korie.Koetting@uwlaw.com
P 806 379 1397
F 806 379-0316

PRACTICE AREAS

Business & Corporate
Litigation
Employment

ADMISSIONS

State Bar of Texas, 2025
State Bar of Oklahoma, 2022
U.S. District Courts for the Eastern and Northern Districts of Oklahoma

EDUCATION

J.D., University of Tulsa College of Law, Highest Honors, 2022
B.S., Oklahoma State University,
2019

OUTSIDE THE OFFICE

In her spare time, Korie enjoys spending time with her husband, Ross, at their family ranch in Wheeler, Texas.